

The Big Bear And The Brothers

All the hunters in the village went to find food but they could not find a single animal.

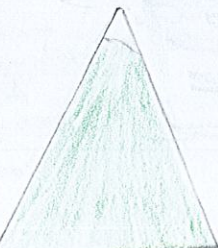

Last night three brothers had the same dream it was of them chasing a huge monster. The next day they went out to find it.

They were walking and then the youngest brother fell in a hole. When they looked at the hole closer they could see that it was a giant bear foot print.

The brothers ran back to the village and warned everyone about the big bear. They put up fires all around their village to protect them from it.

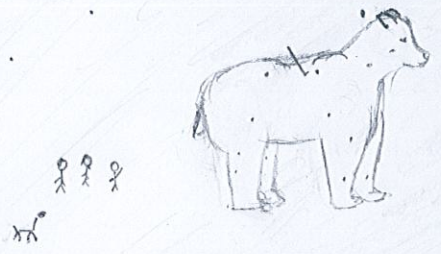

Everyone was too scared and didn't want to hunt the bear. There were only three people in the whole village that were not scared it was the three brothers that saw the footprint. The brothers were an amazing pace the oldest was very strong, the middle brother could run really fast, the youngest was very lazy but he could throw a spear really well and their dog could hunt. So they chased the bear up and up into the mountain.

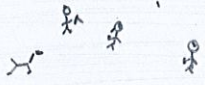

They climbed up and didn't know where they were. The youngest grew tired and sat down. His brother yelled at him to get up they almost had the bear the youngest said to go on without him but the oldest would not let him give up so he carried him.

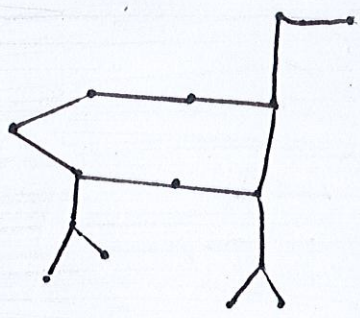

When they were close enough the youngest brother threw his spear and killed it.

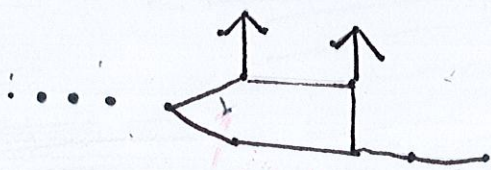

They ate its meat when they looked up and around them they could see stars they were so close it seemed they were in the night sky. Then the bear came alive again and ran. The brothers got up startled and chased it.

Around they went killing it and it always came back to life and so they became Ursa Major up in the night sky. If you look close you can see the three brothers and their dog chasing the bear.

Each year the brother stabs the bear and his blood comes down to color the leaves in time for fall.
